Purpose:

The purpose of this meeting was to influence the direction of future work, highlighting priority areas and suggesting actions for HWST to fulfil during 2021-2022.

A virtual joint Board meeting, attended by members of the HWST Board and some of our Community Champions, was held to discuss topics identified from the recent analysis of our GP's, Treatments & Wellbeing survey.

The group split into two locality areas, to discuss proposed solutions in relation to the issues raised of GP access and increasing poor mental health, representing the views and experiences of the communities they reach and support.

The suggestions discussed from this meeting have been collated into a separate Action Planning document below. Relevant and achievable actions are to be included in our priorities and workplan for 2021-2022 through the production of a Theory of Change outcomes based approach.

The final document has been shared with all Board members and Community Champions for accuracy and to identify their potential involvement and awareness in order to support these actions.

Access to GP's

Accessibility
People find it hard to access GP appointments. Options that reduce barriers for those patients who find it difficult to book GP appointments through a generalised single point system - not one size fits all. Cultural complications surrounding access to GPs for trans people is an issue. Some young people have issues accessing GPs because they are afraid to tell people what's going on with them. NHS App

The NHS app can be quite overwhelming to set up and this may put people off from installing it	The NHS app should be promoted more widely for the general public to use - while this is not suitable for everyone, if more of the general public were aware of it and used it, then this would reduce the pressure on the telephone booking system for those who only have this option.	Ideas included: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Quick guide on how to install and set up the app, e.g. what you will need for process: passport. • Videos on how to set up guide and how to use. • HWST Campaign - raise awareness of the app and how it can be used and what it can do. • Clarify difference between this app and COVID-19 app. 	Encourage receptions staff of health and care services to let people know of the NHS App.
	If people were supported in doing this initial step, then it is easy to use after this and can offer multiple functions which would save both professional and patient time, e.g. email GPs, book appointments, order prescriptions. Volunteers, including Patient Participation Groups, could support GP surgeries by promoting, encouraging and also offering support in installing and setting up the app so that more people use it.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • HWST staff members to trial downloading and registration following the videos to highlight any 'sticking points' and inform how we promote to local people. • Request that Champions get one of their community members to also repeat above action and feedback experience to inform promotional approach/messages. • Promote the use of this app with honesty and benefits. • Promote through Pharmacy network. • Explore if AGE UK 'digital explorers' could support older people to access this app. 	Promotion and awareness raising of this content.

How can we increase awareness of mental health and wellbeing support services and community groups to local people?

Problem	Solution	HWST Actions	External Recommendations
Awareness of services
More people needing mental health support but not knowing where to go and not being told of alternative support when having to wait for services	Raise awareness of services and community groups that people can access to support their wellbeing and mental health. Particularly focussing on activities such as calm crafts and how creative crafts can have a positive impact on people's wellbeing.	Promote mental health services and local activities. Highlight the need to promote community groups with service providers when initially engaging with people/patients and assessing need. Encourage commissioners to monitor this happens with the services they commission. Explore how the new South Tees Health & Wellbeing Network can support this approach.	Alternative support options need to be shared during initial contact, especially if there is a waiting list.
	All feedback received highlights the need for the public and professionals to be able to access mental health and wellbeing information (from high level support, to grassroot community groups), via a single platform. Campaigns - simple messaging for members of the public to understand the range of services that are available for different levels of support and	Explore the potential to connect relevant stakeholders (HEA, TEWV, H&WB Network) to identify if there is an existing platform that can be developed and better utilised.	Gain feedback, interest and potential alternatives with external stakeholders

	consider; <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Accessibility: e.g. text only, online, face to face, telephone, virtual. Not everyone is comfortable admitting they need help / talking to people on the phone, especially strangers and especially about mental health concerns; • Raise awareness of the steps required to access support, as uncertainty can further increase anxiety and worry about asking for help, e.g. what questions will be asked and what to anticipate. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Promote and encourage health and care providers to use this resource. • Share and promote with local people and utilise the South Tees Health & Wellbeing Network. 	External stakeholders to explore options collectively
Young People (health inequalities)
There is very little intervention to ensure mental health services are delivering great things on a consistent basis. This needs to change.	There needs to be earlier intervention and quicker responses to young people's mental health. Stigma can be taken away by talking to students at a very young age and providing them with the solutions needed - should they ever need to reach out. There needs to be more 'joining up' of services in the area to avoid duplication of services...as this can only confuse matters. The 'powers that be' need to invest more into early intervention services. School curriculum needs changing to incorporate mental health for example. Until we do this, we'll always see issues.	Feed community intelligence into relevant forums Consider/explore working with local young people/ youth providers to produce simple images/messages to raise awareness of existing support for health needs e.g. what a school nurse can offer, pharmacies, STD testing to your home.	Promote and raise awareness of HWST actions with relevant partners, services and commissioners including those highlighted important by young people

	Research or evidence gathering with student researchers could generate powerful ideas, but its also not about re-inventing the wheel, as there are examples we can take from current research and apply it to new practices.

Ethnic Minority Communities (health inequalities)
Many black and ethnic minority groups are isolated in their own communities at the moment, and they wonder how this might change. There aren't enough services reaching out to help these groups.		Build on initial intelligence received to gain further insight and understanding of the experiences of these diverse communities. Through established and new relationships with key professionals, groups and partnerships address ways to further engage with relevant local people to identify key issues for these communities based on their experiences and understanding of mental health services. Produce relevant actions from engagement opportunities and link to relevant key decision makers and service deliverers.	Encourage relevant key decision makers and service deliverers to consider recommendations made.

The use of collaborative groups from all walks of life can remove stigma. Larger events which incorporate Ethnic Minorities, LGBTQ, disabilities, older groups and younger groups, can develop relationships and 'normalise' any issues people have from different walks of life. A lot of mental health issues derive from bullying or pigeon-holing, so this approach may help to educate and remove stigmas.

- Maybe this can be used as an approach to a large event once restrictions are lifted to welcome back HWST with a focus on mental health (Share & Care).
- Speakers from different communities talk about good or bad experiences that helped them.
- Services can have stalls/speaks about how they can support those in attendance.
- Encourage Community Champions and new networks to engage.
